Inspired Voices ~A journey of hope

Music, poetry, dance, artwork, and individual stories of hope and recovery will fill the Franco-American Heritage Center in Lewiston on Saturday, June 26 when Tri-County Mental Health Services hosts the 5th Annual Inspired Voices Benefit Concert and Art Exhibit. The evening begins at 6pm with a catered Reception and Art Exhibit featuring works by children and adults whose lives have been touched by the agency. At 7pm the performance hall comes alive with powerful music, dance, poetry and stories of clients intertwined with top notch music by an ensemble of local and regional artists, volunteers and agency employees.

Tri-County Mental Health Services' Program Director, Catherine Ryder, will continue as Director of the show for the fifth straight year, and L/A Arts Executive Director Andrew Harris will join fellow Brit and TCMHS Executive Director Chris Copeland on stage as Emcee. This event has become a community favorite for the top notch performances as well as the powerful message of recovery and hope.

Inspired Voices was created in 2005 and was the first major fundraising event for the almost 60 year old agency. It is unique in that it is completely mission related and is so much more than a benefit. It includes the people we serve and the community in a creative partnership that has a profound effect on everyone involved in it. The consumer participants become empowered and realize lifelong dreams. The performers volunteer hours of time and considerable talent to support the consumers and share in their triumphs. The audience itself feels a part of the healing process with their appreciation and applause. The stigma once associated with mental illness is lessened and the work of the agency and its employees is demystified. The very process of creating the event and the therapeutic effect it has on the consumer participants are vivid representations of the work we do every day. Inspired Voices has had a profound impact on the participants and on the community members who come back every year to share and celebrate the power of hope and inspiration.

This year we are adding two new features to celebrate the 5th Anniversary of this event. We will be filming a full length documentary of the process to show its full impact. We hope to use this documentary for years into the future to help break down barriers and stigma around mental health issues. We will also have a separate Preview Reception of the consumer art works at a community location in the weeks prior to the event. This will further increase publicity and visibility for the event. Last year we produced a short film to this effect which is viewable at www.tcmhs.org. I hope you will consider becoming a sponsor this year. Proceeds from the event help support vital programs and services for people of all ages.

Thank you for your consideration.
